

Dear Patient,

As specialists of the head and neck (otolaryngology), we may perform diagnostic procedures in addition to your office visit. This may include, but is not limited to: nasal endoscopy, flexible laryngoscopy, cerumen removal and/or biopsy. These procedures may be necessary in order to properly diagnose and/or treat your condition. Your insurance will be billed for any procedure in addition to your office visit. While these services are usually covered by insurance, your insurance may apply it to your deductible. Please initial that our office has informed you. If you have any questions please ask the doctor about these tests.
